REMINDER

Unpleasant, sure it is, but something that's still there even though you close your eyes and refuse to look—

The fact that the Grim Reaper ties a sprig of holly on his scythe and goes dancing down the highways of the United States at holiday time.

He sees a motorist in a hurry to get home to see his family and swish! the scythe whirrs and there is an undertaker's wreath, instead of a Christmas wreath, on the door.

Or maybe it's a pedestrian who steps in front of a car in the dangerous dusk of these late December evenings—swish! the scythe moves again and they pick up a broken body.

Last December 4,290 men, women and children were killed in December—more than in any other month since the automobile first appeared in this country. It's a reminder. Be more careful this year.

UNEMPLOYMENT NOTE

One theme was heard many times in the Steel Workers' Organizing Committee convention at Pittsburgh.

Either malice or lazy thinking is responsible for the silly charge that employers lay off men because capital "has gone on a sitdown strike." Capital is not held out of use as long as it can be employed. Men are not denied employment as long as they can be employed.

Employers curtail operations when money isn't coming in. If this is hard to understand, as it seemed to be for speakers in the S. W. O. C. convention, it may help to realize that S. W. O. C., itself, has laid off upward of 200 organizers recently. This was not done for spite, but because the money wasn't coming in rapidly enough to keep the organizers on the payroll.

Surely, S. W. O. C. spokesmen wouldn't want to say that the capital they control has gone on a sitdown strike for the sake of creating unemployment.

LET'S NOT BE NAIVE

Certain liberals are protesting that when the national labor relations board makes a pass at Hartley Barclay, editor of Mill & Factory, who wrote an article favorable to Weirton, it isn't even thinking of attacking freedom of the press.

No, say these liberals, the board simply is carrying out the law, which board members interpret to say an employer can't oppose labor organizations, not even by causing to be published, or republished, anything which might be construed (by the labor relations board, of course) as unfavorable to labor organizations.

But these same liberals do not go on to say that freedom of the press consists largely in freedom to circulate what is printed, just as freedom of speech consists in freedom to make a public address. Words and thoughts which cannot be placed before the people are meaningless. Even a Russian, a German, or an Italian can think and write as he pleases, as long as he keeps it a secret.

It probably is true the national labor relations board has not intentionally attacked freedom of the press. But let's not be naive. When any agency, particularly a public one, challenges the right to circulate what has been printed, it already has planted the heel of its boot on the vital part of freedom of the press, which is the right to distribute copies of the publication.

SO FORGET ABOUT IT

The undermanned fight against the silly notion that a big town must be a better place to live than a small one recently received reinforcements when researchers from Teachers' college of Columbia university examined several hundred towns to see what it was exactly that made them tick. Incidentally, there's nothing to support the opposite contention that a little town's best, either, because unless the little town measures up it can be a headache, too.

The researchers found size had less to do with making a town a good place to live in than the number of its cigar stores, radios, modern stoves etc.—all signs of good living. Names in Who's Who and Don & Bradstreet's were less important than a lot of good fellows named Joe and John who could be counted on in a pinch for a high tenor note or five bob two days before pay day. Thirty-five percent of goodness, they decided, was accounted for by wealth and income; 55 percent depended on the character of the residents and 10 percent on other factors.

They concluded that in a good town people lived respectable, middle class lives, practiced small vices instead of big ones and were sensibly interested in the other fellow's welfare. Ever since, Salem has seemed to have an edge over New York, Chicago, Detroit, Los Angeles, Cleveland, Pittsburgh and also over Podunk, Johnson's Corners, Badger Hollow and Limestone Ridge—or whatever your favorite happens to be.

THE STARS SAY

For Thursday, December 23

Much liveliness and pleasant activity are read from the predominate planetary influences. Business should be satisfactory, with signs of heightened holiday spirit. The spirit of jubilation gives the key to the excitement, and there is a corresponding spiritual growth.

If This Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves in a year of much enterprise and activity, with all pertaining to writings, contracts and new business flourishing. However, there is an element of subtlety, intrigue or cunning to guard against.

A child born on this day may be versatile, energetic, constructive and at the same time subtle, mystical, romantic and altruistic. It may have peculiar alliances in life.

O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

NEW YORK, Dec. 22—Jack Hines is back in circulation, having returned from his latest experiment in working a gold claim in a lonely Nevada Valley. Hines is the writing world's true soldier of fortune. A gentleman of many talents, who has roamed the world as fancy dictates.

Twenty years ago he rounded in from the Klondike to write his famous dog stories for the leading magazines. And for a number of years his fine baritone voice rang clear at the Dutch Treat and Illustrators' shows. But his life has not been all glamour. Plenty of ups and downs.

He was on the stage awhile, sang in night clubs and had an auto accident in which he was for a time horribly disfigured aside from losing a part of his tongue. He had to learn to talk again. Gene Buck called him the Bombardier Wells of literature—often on the floor but always got up.

Rex Beach can recall the time he was in a jerry-built roadhouse on the shores of the Behring sea when he was a stripling. A youth with a ten days growth of beard arrived by dog sled. And Beach, who played the mandolin, started the newcomer singing and he sang until dawn. It was Hines.

On a recent day the Artists and Writers paid Hines a deserved compliment in welcoming him home. Frank Crownshield proposed him for honorary life membership and Arthur William Brown, Rube Goldberg, Bud Kelland, Grant Rice and Messmore Kendall were among those who arose to the last man to second the nomination with a lusty cheer. And Hines sang his thanks with misty eyes.

The short light tan box coat with the black velvet collar that Billy (Single) Clifford used to affect in vaudeville along with a low bowler is finding expression again. I saw two exponents on the avenue in the late Fall and they threaten to become almost a plague by Spring. And a style shark at Sulka's tells me the silk shirt is in again. It went into eclipse with the market nose dive and was worn mostly by the gamblers and tin horn tosspots.

Mayor La Guardia and the architect Whitney Warren are, so far as I can notice, the last defenders of the wide-brimmed black Stetson, so popular in Missouri and Kansas in the days when the Younger and James boys rode. The Mayor acquired a hanker for the style during his early Arizona days, and Warren, an elderly Brummel, evidently clung to the shape as a left-over of his student days in the Paris Latin Quarter. Hatters say no one can wear the pampas sombrero, on the screen, stage or sidewalk, like William S. Hart. Although the late Maclay Arbuckle was not far behind.

His Honor the Mayor is the least style conscious of any metropolitan chief executive. He buys store clothes at a shop on Broadway and two extra suits are usually the limit of his wardrobe. It is seldom his habiliments are not in dire need of the presser's art, and his neckties are never quite thoroughly knotted. Clothes simply do not interest him. And New York somehow warms to his derelictions. The town was pretty well fed up with descriptions of Jimmy Walker's one-buttoned great coats, high peaked lapels and things.

The peg for the sartorial panegyrics today is, of course, Lucius Beebe, whose latest fashion rocket zoomed in one of the night clubs where he appeared in a dinner jacket of a deep tobacco brown. But Beebe, a sly wag in his own right is, I suspect, merely needing the kidders when he dazzles the populace now and then. He is willing, despite the austerity of his sober face, to go to great lengths for a laugh. Also he has by his dressy didoes, feigned and real, advertised himself and column from coast to coast. In two years he is about the best known reporter in America.

HEALTH

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland
New York City

BACKACHE

AMONG THE nagging and annoying ailments to which flesh is heir, we find pain in the back, old-fashioned backache. This is a trying symptom, distressing and efficiency - destroying.

There are many causes for this trouble. Some of them relate to the organs of sex and, of course, differ in men and women. Sometimes the kidneys are the sources of pain reflected into the back.

Rheumatism and neuralgia are credited, rightly or wrongly, with responsibility for the backache. For a couple of decades, "lilo-sacral strain" has been the name given to the acute pain in the upper hip or one side of the lowest part of the back. This term was applied because it has been considered probable that the wedge-shaped sacrum, the lowest part of the backbone, has slipped out of place. This displacement tears or squeezes the tissues in what is really a joint between the sacrum and the ilium, a part of the hipbone or pelvis.

Cartilage Rupture

Now come the experts to tell us that pain low in the back and certain types of sciatica may come from something else. They may result from rupture of the disk of cartilage which lies between each two vertebrae, the individual bones making up the vertebral column, or backbone, as it is commonly called. Imagine a couple of dozen doughnuts piled one on top of the other. The openings in the doughnuts, the holes, would make a sort of canal. The vertebrae are perforated in the same way, and when piled up, they form a canal which is occupied by the spinal cord. From this cord arise all the delicate nerves of the body.

Between each pair of vertebrae is a sort of washer, a disk of gristle-like or fibrous material. If by a blow, a fall, a sudden twist of the body, or the lifting of a heavy weight, one of these disks is ruptured, the sensitive spinal cord, or one or more of the nerve roots springing from it, may be pressed upon by the ruptured and misplaced tissue.

Backache Results

There may result backache, or the pain may run down the thigh, past the knee and into the calf of the leg. Sometimes the symptoms are exactly like those of lilo-sacral strain.

I read a fine article about such pain in the Journal of the American Medical Association. It is the joint report of three Boston physicians, Doctors Barr, Hampton and Mixer. While the number of cases described is not large, the results of surgical treatment have been remarkable.

Of course, rupture of an intervertebral disk is but one of many possible causes for backache. But any chronic sufferer of this symptom will be happy to learn that progress is being made in its control.

Answers to Health Queries

Troubled. Q.—My husband, 54 years of age, is very susceptible to colds. When he has a cold and falls asleep, there is a singular sound in his chest which is most noticeable. He seems strong and he works every day. He will not take any medicine. What would you advise in this case?

A.—This may be due to a form of asthma. The patient should see his doctor for examination and advice. For further particulars, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

Friend. Q.—I have chronic rheumatism and suffer with the joints in my legs and arms. My legs are getting stiff. What would cause this condition and what is the treatment?

A.—Try to find the underlying source of infection first of all. The treatment depends upon the cause of the trouble. For full particulars, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

Dr. Copeland is glad to answer inquiries from readers who send an addressed, stamped envelope with their questions. Address all letters to Dr. Copeland, New York City.

EASES TENSION OVER MOROCCO

France Buys Food, Cattle for Hungry Farmers and Tribes

(By United Press)
PARIS — Economic relief for French North African dependencies is going forward today after a series of conferences in which Albert Sarraut, expert colonial administrator, played an outstanding role.

The North African coordination committee, under Sarraut, is buying large stocks of food and cattle for hungry tribesmen and farmers. In addition every effort is being made to reduce foreign trade barriers which are stilling Moroccan economic endeavor.

Throughout November, Sarraut held conferences with his colleagues on ways and means of bettering the lot of natives in Morocco and other North African areas. Simultaneously Gen. Auguste Nogues, military governor of Morocco had to deal with a tense political situation resulting in widespread manifestations and uprisings which led to several deaths and the arrest of the leaders of the North African Star anti-French organization.

Industry Has Collapsed
Experts on African colonial administration believe the present tense political situation largely is due to the collapse of Moroccan industry and commerce following worldwide trade depression coupled with unfortunate climate conditions which have deprived large sections of Southern Morocco of an adequate rainfall during the past few years.

Morocco is an essentially agricultural country and in the post-war years its population was encouraged to intensify the major agricultural crop which was wheat. At the height of the world crisis in 1932 the Moroccan wheat output totaled 21,000,000 bushels and in 1934 attained nearly 30,000,000 bushels but in 1936 the production fell to two-thirds of the 1934 figure. This created a tremendous surplus which could not be exported and which the country could not use. Such production was out of all proportion to the population. In 1933 the population was estimated at 5,000,000 while the 1936 census shows an increase of 1,296,000. At this rate it is estimated the population will have doubled in 30 years.

Rapid Rise in 3 Years
The world crisis caught Morocco during post-war expansion when all branches of industry were well on the upgrade. One of the basic industries, cement, had a production increase from 65,000 metric tons in 1929 to 201,000 tons in 1933. Coal production rose from 6,000 metric tons in 1931 to 49,000 metric tons in 1936. Electrical output increased from 57,000,000 kilowatt hours to 118,000,000 in 1936.

The whole of Moroccan industrial production was orientated toward foreign markets. In this way the wheat production increased far beyond the needs of the country and when foreign markets gradually dwindled, Morocco was forced into an autarchy for which it was less prepared than any other country.

OPPORTUNITIES
Opportunities buy to advantage are found daily in The News classified adv. columns.

Baby Used to Hide Dope

Narcotics valued at $500 were found by police secreted in the high chair of baby Annette Russo, shown above with her youthful mother, Mrs. Frank Russo. Boston police, raiding the Russo home in the south end of that city, placed the father under arrest for possession of narcotics.

Theater Attractions

The State theater will present a double feature Thursday and Friday. The first is George Arliss' latest film, "Dr. Syn," reformed pirate. Margaret Lockwood is seen in the role of his daughter and John Loder, as her sweetheart.

The pirate, Clegg, is hanged by English authorities, but is cut down by friends and revived, a fact unknown to the law officers. He becomes Dr. Syn, beloved minister of a poor sea coast town. He turns to smuggling to help his parishioners, and also because there is still a spark of adventure in his heart.

His new identity is threatened by a dumb mutiny, formerly a member of his pirate crew. When his parishioners are confronted with the knowledge that their Dr. Syn is a pirate, they rally round him and hold off the revenue officers while he makes his escape.

Second On Bill
The second picture is "Living on Love," a comedy, featuring James Dunn and Whitney Bourne. The story concerns a penniless young artist, played by Dunn, who is following "art for art's sake" and a stenographer, Miss Bourne, who doesn't make enough to pay the landlord.

Circumstances force the two to occupy one room. Miss Bourne at night, working during the day. Dunn has the room through the day and works at night. Miss Bourne and Dunn, after a series of disastrous practical jokes on each other, realize they are in love.

At the Grand Thursday and Friday are a Buck Jones western, "Law for Tombstone," and "Some Blondes Are Dangerous," featuring Neah Beery, Jr., William Gargan.

Dorothea Kent, Nan Grey and Polly Rowles.

Concluding tonight are: "Judge Priest," Will Rogers' film, "At the State," and a double bill, "Murder in Greenwich Village" with Richard Arlen, Fay Wray, Raymond Walburn and Wyn Cahoon, and "A Girl With Ideas," featuring Wendy Barrie, Kent Taylor, Walter Pidgeon and Dorothea Kent.

NEW YORK—Although chemical industry now produces about 10,000 different substances, scientists know definitely of an additional half million substances for which there is no present use, according to a report made to the American Chemical Society.

Mrs. Koenreich Given Garden Club's Prize

Mrs. L. P. Koenreich was awarded a prize by the Salem Garden club at a meeting yesterday at the home of Mrs. R. H. Miller on South Lincoln ave. Mrs. Koenreich received the largest number of ribbons for outstanding flower arrangements exhibited at meetings during the year.

She also won the ribbon given for yesterday's Christmas decoration exhibits. Her display, a beautiful and artistic table arrangement, was of pine and pine cones with red candles in apple holders. The table was covered with a lace cloth.

Howard Arnold entertained with two vocal selections, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Esther Odoran. Mrs. R. T. Holzbach gave an interesting paper on "Christmas Customs in Other Lands."

The December committee of which Mrs. Holzbach is chairman served tea at a beautifully appointed table. A lace cloth and holly decorations made it attractive. Mrs. Lorin Harris presided.

Choir Association Names Officers

Donald Izenour was named president of Holy Trinity English Lutheran Choir association at a meeting Monday evening at the home of Miss Erna Pauline, Franklin st.

Miss Pauline is vice president and Miss Hilda Franke, secretary-treasurer. Miss Jeanette Hoch will serve as librarian.

Plans were completed for the Christmas eve midnight service at Holy Trinity church. The service, to open at 11:45, will feature carol singing and special music by the choir. The candlelight rites will be open to the public.

Members enjoyed a gift exchange, contests and a lunch served by the hostess. Miss Evelyn Tullis and Jesse Youtz were winners of contest prizes. Seasonal appointments made the table attractive.

The next session will be Jan. 18.

East Side Bridge Club Formed

New Irish President?

Count Edward Taaffe

Count Edward Taaffe, who holds an Austrian title but is of old Irish stock, will be the new president of Ireland, succeeding Eamon de Valera, according to reports from Dublin which have it that de Valera has selected him as his first choice for successor. Although Taaffe would be titular head of the republic under the new constitution, de Valera would not lose any power and would most likely hold the office of president of the council, which is the most powerful office in the government.

SOLONS ADOPT RELIEF SETUP

Council Will Care For Needy In January; Plan Appropriation

Lezier Caplan ruled the city could not pay for the new car until the annual appropriation measure was approved after Jan. 1.

However, the city intends to advertise for bids for the new cruiser immediately. The present car will be traded in.

Two ordinances were approved by council, one transferring $20 from the general fund to the park fund, and the other transferring $112 from the fire department motor apparatus fund to firemen's payroll; $18.54 from the service fund to the engineering fund, and $36.76 from the waterworks fund to the stationery and salaries fund.

The transfers were requested by City Auditor Karl Webster to balance year-end expenses.

City Engineer F. S. Barckhoff withdrew his previous request for $2,000 for use in purchasing water well auxiliary equipment, saying enough money is in fund now to take care of the matter.

E. Liverpool Seeks Funds for Relief

EAST LIVERPOOL, Dec. 22.—Service - Safety Director E. B. Laughlin said today he would appeal to state officials for a $30,000 allocation of funds to pay food, milk, medicine and coal bills for the city's 1,678 indigent, who have been maintained for six months on credit.

To Blame

red, subcutaneous streak across Healy's left temple, possibly caused by a blow, and a deep gash above the left eye, which had been closed by two surgical clips. The left eyelid showed red bruises.

Substantiation of Healy's account of the fight and his subsequent movements was indicated by the police officers, who learned from Dr. Sydney L. Weinberg of a Hollywood hotel that he closed the gash over the actor's injured eye.

Dr. Weinberg said he was summoned at 2:15 a. m. Monday by Healy.

"He was extremely incoherent," said Dr. Weinberg. "He had been drinking heavily. I gathered, however, that he did not know the name of the man with whom he said he had been fighting."

Jack Marcus, Healy's life-long friend and manager, said the actor spent Monday in bed, being seized frequently with convulsions, and often moaning deliriously about the fight. Early yesterday Dr. Le Mont was called and it became known that Healy's condition was grave.

Stricken With Heart Attack
At 3 o'clock yesterday morning
Healy was stricken with a heart attack. Dr. LaMont said he lapsed into a coma at dawn and did not recover. Death occurred at 11:30 a. m.

Marcus said Healy was under the care of a bodyguard, Hymie Marx.
Sunday, but eluded him that night, went to the Trocadero, later appeared at another night spot where he borrowed $50, then went to the Hollywood Brown Derby, where friends saw him and called his sister, who persuaded him to call Dr.
Weinberg and have his injuries treated.

Healy's wife is the former Betty Hickman, University of California at Los Angeles coed and member of a socially prominent Pasadena family.

CONGRESS QUITS FOR HOLIDAYS

Defers Enactment of Major Legislation Until
New Year

bill was sidetracked last summer.
Recommittal usually is tantamount to killing a measure, but friends of the wage-hour bill expressed the hope it might be resurrected by a new presidential request for enactment.

The wage-hour measure already has passed the senate.
A fourth segment of the administration program—government reorganization—was slated by Barkley today for senate action immediately after debate on the anti-lynching bill, which the senate has agreed to begin Jan. 6.

The latter measure, a point of controversy between the north and the south for years, may encounter a southern filibuster, as it did at the start of the special session.

Planning Bills Pending
Regional planning bills, also in the administration's special session program, are pending before house and senate committees. They would establish agencies similar to the Tennessee Valley Authority, with power to undertake dam construction and similar projects. Leaders, however, expect passage of a modified bill merely setting up research agencies.

Tax revision will be a paramount issue early in the regular session.
The widespread clamor for modification or repeal of taxes pressing most heavily on business went unanswered in the special session because a house tax subcommittee found the task too intricate to finish in a hurry.

The committee made long strides toward revamping the tax structure in a series of tentative decisions, which Barkley predicted could be enacted by Feb. 1.

CANADA'S STORK DERBY UPHOLD

Canadian Supreme Court Approves
Will of Charles Vance Millar, Providing Baby Prize

OTTAWA, Ont., Dec. 22.—(Canadian Press)—The Supreme Court of Canada today upheld the eceentric will of Charles Vance Millar, instigator of Toronto's unique
"stork derby."

Millar's will provided that his estate, estimated in excess of $500-000, should go to the mother or mothers giving birth to the most children in Toronto between Oct.
31, 1926, and Oct. 31, 1936.

The supreme court left to Ontario courts the task of determining the money for which a dozen or more women have filed claims.
Validity of the will was questioned by two relatives of the wealthy Toronto lawyer, Arabella West and Alexander Butcher, the relatives, claimed the will was contrary to public policy.

Stop Picketing
LISBON, Dec. 22.—Union meat cutters suspended picketing of the Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co.'s main market in East Liverpool today under an agreement made in the common pleas court here, pending decision of Judge W. F. Lones on the company's petition for a restraining order.

Drop Special Vote
EAST LIVERPOOL, Dec. 22.—The board of education today abandoned plans for a special election here Feb. 21 on a $235,000 bond issue for erection of a 22-room junior high school. The State Tax Commission has refused to sanction it.

Auto Is Stolen
LISBON, Dec. 22.—Clyde Hadley reported to the sheriff's office this morning the theft of a coupe from in front of his automobile sales room, E. Lincoln Way, East Liverpool. Police were notified when the thief headed south on Route 30.

Aid Applications
COLUMBUS, Dec. 22.—Allocations for December from the $1-000,000 appropriated by the special session of the legislature to aid distressed counties were announced today by the state emergency board.

Armament Costs in 1937 Reach Seven Billion

Armament expenditures in 1937 nearly triple the total spent in 1913, the year before the World war.
Survey by the League of Nations, just made public, reveals that $7,100,000,000 was spent in 1937 by 64 nations of the world in comparison to $2,500-000,000 in 1913. Europe leads in paying tribute to the god Mars, having expended $4,500,000,000, or about 70 per cent of the world total. This represents an increase of nearly 80 per cent for that group of powers since 1932. During the same period United States' expenses for a military machine advanced 50 per cent and Russia in 1937 expended nearly 20 times as much as five years ago.

Aside from the fact that this increase reflects a mad race to expand army, navy and air forces, it also reflects the increasing cost of war since mobile and mechanized units are far more expensive than the equipment of yesteryear.

DEATHS

MELVIN O. STANLEY
Melvin O. Stanley, 62, a brother of Mrs. Loretta Dunlap of Salem, died at 2:20 p. m. yesterday at his home on the Alliance-Minerva road, near New Franklin, following an illness of two months.

He quit work in October at the McCaskey Register Co., Alliance, where he had been employed as a printer for 30 years. He was born at Westville and lived in Alliance before moving to New Franklin eight years ago. He was a member of the Christian church.

Surviving are his wife, Jennie M., and a daughter, Grace E., at home, another daughter, Mrs. Ralph Noble of Minerva; one son, Leslie O., of Akron; three sisters, Mrs. Dunlap of Salem, Mrs. Sylvia Bender and Mrs. Lucy Gilkinson of Sebring, and three grandchildren.

The funeral service will be held at 2 p. m. Friday at the Cassidy & Turkle funeral home in Alliance in charge of Rev. R. C. Birge, pastor of the Minerva Christian church.
Burial will be in Fairmount Memorial park.

Friends may call at the home
Thursday afternoon and evening.

All have opposed the Davey ad-

Yoder, describing them as "a fair committee—not stacked," said he purposely had omitted from its membership "outstanding pro-or anti-

Controversy marked the committee's first public hearing when Senator Campbell objected to granting Metzenbaum full control over investigation and selection of the committee's anticipated personnel.

"I think the committee should retain full control; if it doesn't I don't care to serve on it," said Campbell, but the committee voted 6-to-1 to give Metzenbaum what the motion described as "a free hand."

Will Consult Committee
Campbell, disclosing he had favored Gordon Kinder of Martin's the situation was fairly satisfactory after Metzenbaum agreed voluntarily to consult the committee on all employe appointments.

Judges In Yule Lighting Contest Facing Big Task

Christmas Eve to New Year's Day Is Judging Period

Homes entered in the Christmas lighting and decorating contest sponsored by the Garden club and The Salem News will be judged between Christmas eve and New Year's day, it was announced today by contest officials.

And, as indicated by the number of entries that have been filed since the contest was announced not so very long ago, those assigned the difficult task of judging will need ample time in order to complete full appraisals in this civic beautification project.

So, entrants are warned, do not forget to have your decorations fully illuminated and "in working order" from Friday night on to New Year's day.

And another thing—have you filed your entry yet?
You'll have until Christmas eve—that's Friday—to get your entry blank into the office of The Salem News. Many have come in this week already and many others are expected.

So, if you've gone to considerable trouble to decorate, don't forget the important matter of entering.

BLIND GIRL IS HONOR STUDENT

New York Lass, Senior at Hunter, Initiated Into Phi Beta Kappa

(United Press)
NEW YORK—Helen O'Connell's initiation seemed doomed when she lost her sight at the age of 13. Now, Helen, a senior at Hunter College, has been initiated into Phi Beta Kappa.

When she was graduated from high school her grades were too low for entrance to Hunter College. Determined to go to college, she attended the New York Institute for the Blind and passed her Regents there. Now she is completing a full college course in three and one-half years. When she is graduated soon she hopes to be accepted at the New York School for Social Work since she is a member of the first class to be graduated in the field of Pre-Social Specialization at Hunter.

"I don't know yet just what I will be able to do in the field of social work, but I am tremendously interested in it, so I hope there is a place for me," she declared.

Helen was born in Ireland, the youngest of 13 children. Now she lives at 457 Bainbridge st., Brooklyn.

She has been able to do her college work through the help of readers provided by the special fund for that purpose by the state. Helen is the envy of her classmates in her Shakespeare class for she doesn't have to read the plays. She lets the talking books read them to her. She takes her class notes in Braille.

For 10 years she has been a member of the Blind Players Club, a dramatic group in Suffern, N. Y. Twice she has acted in the club's spring performance at the Brooklyn Academy of Music.

Today's Pattern

SHIRTWAIST EFFECT

Pattern 4498

There's something delightfully simple and demure about this dress which you'll find a great joy for wear "at home." It's wrap-around lines are the greatest possible convenience when you have to "change in a hurry" and they open out flat for ironing. The wide-lapped skirt gives a lot of walking and bending freedom and falls in nice straight lines that are always becoming. The tiny round collar creates a little-girl look that is very flattering. Pattern 4498 gives you choice of short, slashed sleeves or still shorter sleeves, puffed at the shoulder. Nice in crisp, printed cotton.

Pattern 4498 is available in misses' and women's sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44. Size 16 takes 3 1/2 yards 36 inch fabric. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly: SIZE, NAME, ADDRESS and STYLE NUMBER.

Fill in these gaps in your wardrobe! Write today for the WINTER ANNE ADAMS PATTERN BOOK. In it you'll find countless styles that will carry you with flying colors through the rest of the winter and well into spring. Smart dresses for women and misses whether they are slim or stout and gay little clothes for children from two years up. Don't miss this splendid collection! PRICE OF BOOK FIFTEEN CENTS. PRICE OF PATTERN FIFTEEN CENTS. BOOK AND PATTERN TOGETHER TWENTY-FIVE CENTS.

Dividends Set Record; Result Profits Taxes

By MAX L. BROWN
Copyright, 1937, By United Press

NEW YORK—Despite a sharp falling off in the first quarter of the year, cash disbursements by American corporations publicly announcing dividends rose to the highest total on record in 1937.

A United Press survey disclosed that distributions by these organizations for the year approximated $4,500,000,000, an increase of $375,000,000 over the 1936 total.

More than 3,100 organizations, all with listed stocks, took actions, the greatest number in this category since 1929. Dividends by closed corporations and by those without listed securities were not included.

First 10 Months Gains Large

The increased 1937 disbursements largely reflected a deluge of declarations—some on recovery-peak first half business profits and some because of the heavy penalty tax on undistributed profits—which lifted volume for the first 10 months some $600,000,000 over the 1936 period.

But in the final two months distributions fell some $225,000,000 below the 1936 period on the business recession. Agitation for repeal of the tax and apprehension over the future outlook also prompted some companies to retain part of their profits, the tax notwithstanding.

Of the companies with shares listed on the New York Stock Exchange, payments were made on 884 issues out of the grand total of 1,258, a record, and compared with 728 in 1936, 604 in 1935 and only 432 in 1932; 263 represented increases, against 262 in the previous year; 108 initial or resumed payments, against 201; 222 declines, against 24; and 36 passed or omitted some time during the year, against only 9 in 1936.

Payments by companies with shares on the Exchange totaled $2,742,368,658 for 1937, excluding actions voted in 1937 but payable in 1938, up $335,315,816 on the revised basis over 1936 and more than $1,000,000,000 over 1932.

Radio Pays First Dividend

The 10 issues making largest payments accounted for $750,123,000 of the total, compared with $716,593,000 for 1936 and $541,139,000 by the same corporations in 1935. A dividend of 20 cents on Radio Corporation of America common, the first in history, resumption of dividends on U. S. Steel Corporation common with a payment of $1 after a five year lapse, record payments by many oil companies, and resumptions ranging back as much as 22 years featured.

Food companies and textile organizations generally made smaller payments than in 1936, while motor companies, hit by strikes, also failed to equal the 1936 disbursements which were the best in history. Airlines also suffered, with payments on United Aircraft and Transcontinental & Western omitted. Prominent among resumptions were common or capital stock payments on Goodyear Tire & Rubber, Peoples Gas, Youngstown Sheet & Tube, and Great Northern preferred.

Faces Death Penalty

Clifford Hawkins

Despite the fact that he faces a possible death penalty on charges of having slain the two brothers of his child sweetheart, Edith Grimm, 13, Clifford Hawkins maintained an attitude of unconcern when he went on trial at Mount Vernon, Wash., above. The state contends that he murdered the brothers because of his objection to their romance with their sister.

FRENCH SPEED AIRWAYS TESTS

Four Planes To Begin Exploration Flights Over Atlantic Ocean

By PETER C. RHODES
United Press Correspondent
PARIS—France has just shown the world two material factors of active preparation for the conquest of the North Atlantic and the establishment of a commercial airline across the ocean. They are the giant seaplane Lieutenant Paris and the equally large landplane Lieutenant Guerrero, both completed models for the projected North Atlantic route.

By their record flights across the South Atlantic in November, France revealed to the world that it is basing the fight for North Atlantic conquest on the experience gained on the well-established South Atlantic line. In 1936 two more giant planes, copied after these two models, will be completed in French factories, and the team of four will begin active test flights for establishing the North Atlantic route.

60 Ton Plane Projected

A meeting was held immediately after the trial flight at the Latécoere company's hangars in Toulouse with the chief pilots of the South Atlantic flights, the director of Air-France Transatlantique, Louis Coube, and other important air officials. Discussion, which was not made public, centered upon plans for the establishment of the North Atlantic company and the development of material for trial flights.

It was decided that the construction of another giant hydroplane weighing 60 tons (the Lieutenant Paris weighs only 40 tons) should be undertaken. The plane will be finished in 1940, with six motors totaling 16,000 horsepower and will carry 10 persons, of whom 60 would be passengers.

By July, 1938 two planes based on the two present models are scheduled to take the air. In 1939, a new type hydroplane, of the CAM type will be completed. It will mount six motors in line, and technicians predict that it will be the most modern hydroplane, capable of great endurance and record-breaking flights.

Two-Fold Problems

In 1940, two more giants, a Latécoere and a Loire-Olivier 49 will take the air. In 1940, it is expected that material on hand should be sufficient to establish a regular service across the North Atlantic. That is, if other problems apart from the technical questions, are solved by then.

These problems are two-fold. The first is the question of the Azores and permission for the French to establish a base there. Although all the planes under construction today for the North Atlantic route are planned on the basis of non-stop flights from Biarritz to the islands of St. Pierre and Miquelon, safety indicates that midway halts at the Azores are essential. In trial flights in 1935-36 the Nomy-Castrex and Codos-Castrex missions made a thorough study of the conditions at the Azores. Following these tests a request was made to Portugal for authorization to use the islands for a base.

WAR SECRETARY UPSETTING ARMY

New British Aid Making
Sweeping Changes
In Army

makes his role an extremely important one.

Replaces "Old Guard"

First radical departure from the traditions which have so firmly regulated Britain's war machine came when Belisha engineered sweeping changes in the general staff, replacing the "old guard" with younger men and appointing Major General Viscount Gort, 51, as chief of staff, one of the youngest men to hold that high post. Aside from introducing younger blood into the high council, Belisha chose men who were qualified by merit and experience as well as background.

It has often been the custom in the past that the top offices in the British army went on the basis of seniority. Such practice now gives way to promotion on the basis of ability. This move was aimed to encourage enlistment and make men of all classes feel that they had an equal chance to forge ahead and rise from the ranks.

Britain's shortage of man power—the army is now about 1,000 officers and 10,000 men under its quota—made it imperative that army life be made more attractive so that the huge new military machine Britain is engaged in building might be adequately manned.

Belisha Is Key Figure

Belisha, a dynamic bachelor who has a way of getting things done, is eminently fitted for his important post. He was educated at Heidelberg and Oxford where he studied journalism and law, professions which introduced him to politics.

It was in 1923 that he won a seat in parliament as a Liberal. This in turn led to his appointment as financial secretary to the treasury in 1922 where he served for two years and then went on to become minister of transport.

Intensely active and impatient of red tape, Belisha has not allowed the conservative traditions of the British army to check his efforts to vitalize and improve its personnel. Although he drives unwaveringly toward his objective he pursues his course in such manner that he converts the opposition rather than turning them into enemies.

Jap Ware Boycott Program Growing

EAST LIVERPOOL, Dec. 22—The National Brotherhood of Operative Potters' economic boycott against Japan may be carried to the White House and Congress, leaders said today, after they conferred with representatives of the United States Potters' association.

Boycott parades are planned in Washington, D. C., and Steubenville, O., along lines of the initial demonstration here December 13. Then 3,000 pottery workers marched, and William Green, president, pledged the support of the American Federation of Labor "until Japan ceases its ruthless, barbaric and indefensible war against China."

Frank Hull, national organizer for the brotherhood, was named chairman of an East Liverpool committee to co-operate in plans for the Steubenville demonstration.

Here and There About Town

Holiday Ball

The first annual holiday ball, sponsored by the Young Republican club of East Liverpool, will be given Wednesday night, Dec. 29, at the Winland auditorium in that city. All Salem Republicans, young and old, are invited to attend. Lozier Caplan has charge of ticket sales in the Salem district.

Practice for Service

Primary, Junior and Intermediate departments of the English Lutheran church will practice for the "White Gifts for the King" service at 2 p. m. Saturday in the church.

There will be no more adult rehearsals.

Kiwanis Yule Meeting Thursday

Members of the Kiwanis club will hold their annual Christmas meeting following lunch tomorrow noon at the Memorial building. A contribution to Christmas charity will be made.

President John Litty will be in charge.

Children's Yule Party

About 115 children of the primary department and their mothers enjoyed a Christmas party at the Methodist church yesterday. Refreshments, games and informal entertainment and a Christmas tree were features.

Hits Gates Standard

Clarence Wright, taxi driver, told police he was forced to run his car into a gate standard when the watchman at the Newgarden ave. crossing lowered the gates suddenly at 8:10 a. m. Tuesday. The front end of the automobile was damaged.

Building Permits

D. L. Montgomery of 649 Franklin ave. has obtained a building permit from the city for a $300 repair to his residence.

Will Sing Carols

The Latin club of Salem High school, in charge of their teacher, Mrs. George Koontz, will visit homes of shut-ins this evening to sing Christmas carols. This is an annual event for the club, which numbers about 20 members.

Junior Saxons Meet

Junior Saxons society will meet at 8 p. m. Thursday at the club rooms for a Christmas party. Members are asked to bring a gift for an exchange during the evening.

Hospital Notes

Harry Waltman of R. D. 2, Salem, and Andrew Keiser of 651 Prospect st., have been admitted to Salem City hospital for medical treatment.

Program Arranged

Arrangements have been completed for the third annual Christmas party for members of local No. 42 of the National Brotherhood of Operative Pottery and their children. The affair will be held at 8 p. m. Thursday in K. of P. hall.

Bicycle Recovered

The bicycle of Lyle Knag, 368 E. Third st., stolen Monday night in the downtown area, was recovered Tuesday morning by Patrolman James Hassey. No arrest was made.

Free Movie Proves "Howling" Success

The Walken Brothers' seventh annual free movie at the Grand theater today was a "howling" success.

The sponsors had no doubt there would be a capacity crowd—and there was. Every available inch of space was taken.

All bans were lifted for this special occasion. Children were permitted to cheer the hero and boo at the villain—and they did in voluminous tones.

A five-film program, including a western thriller, two comedies and two technicolor features met with the unqualified approval of the youthful audience.

All theater employees donated their services for the performance.

Puzzled President

RICHMOND, Va.—M. E. Bristow, Virginia commissioner of insurance and banking, was puzzled by a telegram addressing him as president of the national association of building and loan supervisors.

He wired the association for an explanation.

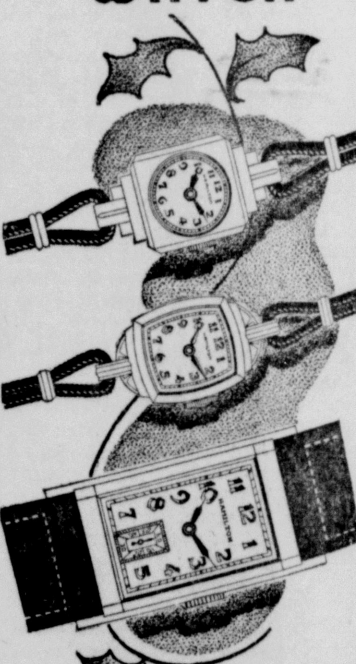

He had been elected president two months ago at a Los Angeles convention which he did not attend.

The Althouse Dodgers and Shasteen's Sinclairs Service Station cagers chalked up their second victories in the first round of the Class A City Basketball league at the Memorial building last night, the Dodgers defeating the Moose, 36-31, and Shasteen's whipping Mullins, 44-24.

Sam Drakulich and Earl Zelle shared scoring honors for the Dodgers with nine points apiece. E. Jeffries was high scorer for the Moose with 10 points.

The Dodgers held the lead throughout the contest, being out in front, 8 to 3 at the end of the first period, 17 to 12 at halftime and 23 to 20 at the close of the third frame.

The stellar play of Gordy Scullion and Eddie Pukalski stood out as Shasteen's Sinclair quintet handed Mullins the worst beating any Class A team has received to date.

Scullion scored 15 points and Pukalski 10 to lead Shasteen's to a 16 to 2 advantage in the opening period and a 25 to 6 edge at halftime. The Sinclairs led 36 to 16 at the close of the third quarter.

One of the two Class B league games played at the Memorial gym last night saw the Krauss Heels suffer their first defeat of the first round when they lost to the Saxons, 22 to 24.

The Heels, who had won two straight games up until last night, played on even terms with the Saxons in the first quarter but fell behind in the second period and trailed, 14 to 8, at halftime.

Schuster and Johnny Ulrich led the Saxon scoring with 11 and nine points respectively.

The other Class B game between the Methodists and the Baptists was a hotly contested affair with the Methodists coming out on top, 18 to 16.

The Baptists trailed by six points going into the final period, but staged a last-quarter rally which came near defeating the Methodists.

Year 1937 Was Dramatic One For American Sports; Budge's Tennis Sweep Outstanding Among Events

By DAVIS J. WALSH

NEW YORK, Dec. 22. — Down over the brow of yon, descending hill goes Old Man Time on his formal retreat into oblivion, glancing backward enroute upon the bright vista that was 1937 and the memory of gallant and enduring things it gave us in the name of sport.

It was quite a year, all told, and the institution of American sport contributed more than its share, reasserting old dominions and even establishing new. Briefly, the eagle may not have risen on its haunches and screamed in unmitigated triumph. But it emitted more than a few faint squeaks.

There was the compelling case of Don Budge, the tennis player. He took over the world's amateur championship in the name of America. He brought back the Davis Cup, almost unaided, from England to give here for the first time in ten years. He won the Wimbledon singles, doubles and mixed doubles. He won the American singles at Forest Hills, defeating Baron Von Cramm, of Germany, in a great five-set final.

No player since Tilden ever dominated a sport as Budge did in the few, short weeks between July and September of 1937. So much for the number one.

Number two, in the international calendar saw Harold S. Vanderbilt with his Ranger so thoroughly outlast T. O. M. Sopwith, with his Endeavor 2nd, that the American's Cup in yacht racing was retained in a minimum of four races. Number three, of course, would be Joe Louis' 15 round decision over Tommy Farr, Great Britain, for the world's heavyweight championship. However, this, in a sense, was a triumph for Britain in that Farr was defeated by a Britisher.

The stellar play of Gordy Scullion and Eddie Pukalski stood out as Shasteen's Sinclair quintet handed Mullins the worst beating any Class A team has received to date.

Scullion scored 15 points and Pukalski 10 to lead Shasteen's to a 16 to 2 advantage in the opening period and a 25 to 6 edge at halftime. The Sinclairs led 36 to 16 at the close of the third quarter.

its first fighter to reach a heavy-weight title fight in all the years since Charley Mitchell. (Heeey came from England, but was a New Zealander; Fitzsimmons was born in England, but really was an Australian).

The international polo cup came back from the Argentine with the victory of Old Westbury over Greentree in the finals, the South Americans being eliminated in the preceding round. The Ryder Cup in golf also was won by American professionals for the first time on English soil, although the latter's prestige was promptly restored when Henry Cotton beat off the American challenge to win the British open.

Among the challengers, incidentally, was Ralph Guldhall who had established an all-time, all-countries record of 282 for seventy-two holes in taking the American open; Sam Snead, who finished one stroke back in second place, and Denny Shute, who won the P. G. A. championship for the second straight year.

On the turf, War Admiral won so consistently and impressively as a three-year-old as to take international rank with the great colts of the generations, including Mar of War, his sire. The Admiral won the Kentucky Derby, the Preakness and the Belmont, running the latter with a split hoof and still breaking the track record. Then, after an enforced absence, he came back to racing, and finished the season undefeated, with eight victories.

Speaking of that, Eastern football regained something of its vanishing prestige by furnishing five of the major undefeated teams in 1937 — Pittsburgh, Fordham, Villanova, Dartmouth and Holy Cross. Other unbeaten survivors were California, on the West Coast; Alabama in the South and Colorado in the Rockies. Pitt was generally hailed as the top team of the country—rated off its schedule—but was not invited to the Rose Bowl by California (following an adverse vote of the former's players). Neither was Fordham, which played Pitt a scoreless tie. The bid went to Alabama, suffering neither defeat nor tie in the South. It will be the latter's fifth journey to Pasadena with a record—so far—unblemished by defeat.

New York got its second straight World Series in baseball between the Yankees and Giants and paid almost a million dollars for it. The Yankees won again in a common center, this time by four games out of five. The American League also took the annual All Star game from the National by 8 to 3. Joe Medwick was the latter's batting champion. Charley Gehringer won in the American League.

Meantime, there was one thing an American still remained unable to do. He couldn't fly without wings and, apparently, Captain George E. T. Eyston, of England, can. The Captain drove an automobile across the salt flats of Utah at the rate of 311.42 miles an hour, displacing a record held by an even more celebrated Briton, Sir Malcolm Campbell.

All-Star Grid Team Rehearses

Marcel Chesbro, Ralph Wolf, John Michelson and Richard Riffle

Among those who will be in there fighting to uphold the honor of the east in the all-star game between the east and west in San Francisco on New Year's Day are, left to right, Marcel Chesbro of Colgate, Ralph Wolf of Ohio State, John Michelson of Pittsburgh and Richard Riffle of Albright. They were snapped during a workout in Chicago where Coaches Andy Kerr of Colgate and Bernie Bierman of Minnesota were putting them through their paces.

BIG TEN CAGERS GOOD IN TUNEUP

Conference Teams Have .756 Average For Warmup Games

By EARL HILLIGAN

CHICAGO, Dec. 22. — Big Ten basketball teams today had a healthy .756 "batting average" in their championship race tune-up tests.

In 41 games with non-conference opponents, Big Ten quintets had to their credit 31 victories against 10 setbacks, with Purdue, Minnesota, Ohio State and Michigan remaining undefeated. The conference aggregations scored 1,890 points while permitting opponents 1,303.

Purdue's "powerhouse" holds the high scoring honor with 285 points in five straight victories, Michigan, which has won five games while scoring 210, has held opponents to 139 points.

Iowa was bounced out of the undefeated class last night, bowing to Toledo 59 to 39. Iowa managed to stay even with the speedy Toledo team for only two minutes, after which the Rockets, with brilliant passing and a strong defensive setup, stayed in front all the way. Iowa previously had won four straight tests.

Indiana lost its second game of the season, being turned back by the speedy Bradley Tech team of Peoria, Ill., 50 to 39. The Tech squad, with Dar Hutchins caging 18 points, led at the half 20 to 16. Michigan continued its winning ways, defeating Rochester university 50 to 29 for a fifth straight triumph. Big Jake Townsend, sharpshooting forward, bagged 14 points, while Ed Thomas and Jim Rae shared second honors with a dozen points each.

Tonight's schedule: Wheaton at Chicago; Iowa at Michigan State; East Lansing, Mich.; Purdue at Denver university.

Get New Players

SPRINGFIELD, Dec. 22.—H. B. (Buz) Weitzel, president of the Springfield Mid-Atlantic league baseball club, said today that pitcher Phil Johnson, outfielder Hank Novak and catcher Harry Grimm, purchased from Oswego, N. Y., of the American-Canadian league, would report for spring practice in Springfield.

"We have the Davis cup now, but if we are to keep it we must have a continuous flow of fresh talent," he explained. "The cup was away 10 years the last time, and that's entirely too long. If this picture wins over only one boy who becomes a world star, it will have served its purpose."

The film shows portions of all the principal matches in the last championships at Forest Hills, with plenty of slow-motion of such stars as Donald Budge, Baron Gottfried Von Cramm and Bobby Riggs. The women stars, Anita Lizana, Jadwiga Jedrzewska and Alice Marble, also take up their share of footage.

TOLEDO CAGERS WALLOP IOWANS

Chuck Chuckovits Leads Rockets To 59-39 Court Win

A dazzling University of Toledo basketball team, led by the amazing Charley Chuckovits, romped to a 59 to 39 victory last night over Iowa university's Big Ten cage contingent.

Chuckovits gathered six field goals and eight free throws for an individual total of 20 points. The Rockets' rapier offense matched the 21-year-old junior's brilliant performance, which gave him a total of 105 points for four consecutive contests.

The Hawkeyes stemmed the Toledo tide in only the first two minutes of play. Guard Lee Gast then sank a long toss to put the Rockets ahead, 5 to 4, and thereafter the invaders failed to catch up.

At half-time Toledo topped the Hawkeyes 23 to 18. Kent State university balked at a second period rally to defeat John Carroll, 41 to 42, in an Ohio conference tilt at Cleveland. The States were up on Carroll, 26 to 16, at the rest period.

Baldwin-Wallace's Yellow Jackets humbled Penn college, of Cleveland, 31 to 20 at Berea. Center Bill Davidson accounted for 13 of the Bereans' points. B-W held a mid-way lead of 17 to 9.

Marshall college, currently "tutoring" eastern quintets, took a lively overtime battle from St. Francis' college of Brooklyn, 54 to 52. Two baskets apiece by Charlie Watson and Julius Rivlin in the extra period shattered a 46-all time. Marshall led, 22 to 21, at the half. Rivlin, a speedy forward, caged 18 units for the West Virginians.

Wittenberg's quintet, also on an out-of-state tour, fared by a one-point margin to conquer Rider college at Trenton, N. J. The score was 46 to 45—with the Springfield aggregation on the short side.

SEBRING COACH IS STAR CAGER

Hosettler Leads Goshen Faculty Team To 46-26 Victory

DAMASCUS, Dec. 22. — James Hosettler, football and basketball coach at Sebring High school, led the Goshen faculty cagers to a 46 to 26 victory over the Damascus All-Stars at the Goshen High court here last night.

Hosettler scored 26 points for the faculty quintet, hooping 12 field goals and two free throws. Clayton Leyda of Damascus tallied 12 points for the faculty team.

The Goshen High freshman team defeated an eighth grade quintet, 12 to 9, in a preliminary game.

ALLISON TURNS DOWN ALL-EAST FOR OWN DRILL

Will Confine Practice To Only California Grid-iron Squad

(By Associated Press) Coach Stubb Allison of the Golden Bears said today he is going to keep his Pacific coast champions' practice confined to his own squad.

Allison turned down a suggestion that his team, which is preparing for its Rose Bowl date with Alabama, scrimmage against the eastern all stars, who are training at Berkeley for the east-west game.

Instead the Bears scrimmaged lightly against reserves and freshmen yesterday.

Assorted groups of "Spartans", "Crimson Tides" and "Mountaineers" were out on the highways and byways for bowl games, while other groups dug in near the scene of the cowhide carnivals.

Here's a roundup of other late developments: Rose Bowl-Alabama's boys stepped off in New Orleans on their way to Pasadena long enough to appear as wallflowers at a cocktail party. Said gangling Hayward Sanford, the end who booted the tide into the bowl with timely field goals, "I don't know much about place kicking." This should knock 'em in the aisles at Tulane and Vanderbilt.

BOWLING NEWS

The National league took time off from its regular schedule last night to catch up on postponed matches. Three of the back-dated contests were rolled off with Mullins Manufacturers winning one, Bunn's Shoes another and Mullins Foremen the third.

The matches did not affect the standings which place the Salem News out in front by four games. The Pottery No. 1 team remained in first place in the City Duckpin league at the Grate Recreation alleys last night, but was forced to share the top position with the Colonial Billiards, who moved in to a tie on the strength of three wins over Demings.

In a special match at the Grate alleys last night, the Grate Recreation team defeated the Colonial Billiards, 2717 to 2360.

BERLIN — Within five years Germany probably will have the largest stadium in the world, with a capacity of 405,000 people. It will be the Deutsches Stadium at Nuremberg, for which Hitler laid the cornerstone during the recent Nazi conference.

3 RING CHAMPS ARE DETHRONED IN PAST YEAR

Five Title-Holders Retain Crowns During 1937 Battles

NEW YORK, Dec. 22. — Three world champions were dethroned in the ring in 1937; five others successfully defended their titles.

Small Montana dropped his flyweight title to the Britisher, Benny Lynch.

Henry Armstrong knocked out Pete Sarron, to win the featherweight title.

Joe Louis knocked out Jim Braddock for the heavyweight championship and defended the title against Tommy Farr.

Lou Ambers retained his lightweight bauble by turning back his chief rival, Pedro Montanez, in a dull bout.

Barney Ross had his hands full in gaining a close decision over Ceferino Garcia to keep his welterweight crown.

Freddy Steele, the middleweight boss, and John Henry Lewis, the light heavyweight king, had no trouble retaining their thrones, chiefly because of lack of sufficient competition.

The outstanding fighter of the year was Armstrong. Titled Negro went along week after week, fighting anybody and everybody who would meet him, featherweights or lightweights, and scoring one sensational knockout after another.

Many veteran judges of boxing believe Armstrong could have won the lightweight and welterweight titles about as easily as he won the featherweight title, if he had had a shot at Ambers and Ross. He probably will get a crack at Ambers next year.

The year also saw Max Schmeling, the German ex-heavyweight champion, who knocked out Louis two years ago, get the prize run-around of the year.

Max thought that when he and Braddock signed a contract to fight for the title, the contract was something more than a scrap of paper.

But by the time the powers that be in the fight racket, a flock of lawyers, and a court got through with him, he discovered he was still out on a limb.

Louis got the title shot and the title and Max got another contract for a title fight in 1938.

More important than any fight, however, was the retirement of Madison Square Garden from boxing and the rise of Mike Jacobs and his 20th Century club to the spot held for so many years by the Garden.

So long as the Garden controlled the heavyweight champion—as it had since the days of Tex Rickard—it held the whip hand in boxing. When the Garden's expensive battery of legal talent failed to make the Schmeling-Braddock contract stick, the Garden decided to get out of the game.

The Garden leased its arena to Mike Jacobs and that wily promoter took charge.

Jacobs says the game is slowly coming back. He estimates fights throughout the country this year drew gates approximating $5,000,000.

This seems like a lot of money to pay for fights until one recalls that in four fights—two with Gene Tunney and one each with Georges Carpentier and Jack Sharkey—Jack Dempsey drew exactly $7,427,151 or almost half as much again as the combined total of all the fights held in the United States in 1937.

"Beauty's A Charm" by HARRIET HINSDALE

CHAPTER XXXIV

"What the devil is the idea, waking me up like this?" Shirley demanded. "I need my sleep, Big Boy, and you're about as welcome as hay fever, this hour of the morning. Well, what's the bad news? I can see you've got something on your mind. Spill it."

Wasting no time and no words, Don came to the edge of the bed and sat down on the elaborate red and white satin coverlet. "I came to get the absolute lowdown on what happened here last night between Clyde and Lucy Lee. I know you can tell me because I have a hunch you were at the bottom of it."

"What do you mean?" she glared. "I don't know what you're talking about."

"Now listen, Toots, don't try to pull that injured innocent stuff on me," he retorted. "Be yourself for once. Remember, I'm your press agent, baby, and I savvy you better than your own mother does. I know you're a lying, scheming, tricky little snake-in-the-grass, and I've got a whole lot of admiration for you!"

His manner was the essence of friendliness but his eyes held hers in a steady grip, much as an animal trainer holds the eyes of a tumbler he means to subdue. "Come on now—just break down and tell Poppa all. It will save you a lot of trouble in the long run, so you might as well give."

"You think you're damned smart, don't you?" she flung back. He waited, saying nothing. "Well," she began at last, reluctant and sulky. "Clyde found Lucy Lee and Preston together in the garden and he was plenty sore. Called her some tough names—knocked Neville Preston out—and then he sorta stumbled and fell down himself and struck his head on a sharp rock along the edge of the path. Preston and the rest of the gang cleared out but Clyde stayed."

"I see. He . . . stayed?"

"Oh, not what you think," she flared. "He was completely out, so there was nothing to do but get him to bed, after I put some antiseptic on the place where his head was cut a little. I took off his shoes and covered him up and I haven't seen him since. Believe it or not," she added viciously.

"Where is he?"

"Downstairs, in the blue bedroom. At least, I suppose he's there yet, sleeping it off."

Don found Clyde sitting on the edge of the bed in the blue room, head in hands and groaning softly. "Hello, you prize sap," was his greeting. "Of all the dim-witted fall guys you sure win the silver-plated mustache cup!"

"Hello, Don," Clyde muttered thickly as he felt with delicate fingers the slight flesh wound at the base of his skull. "Wonder how I got this?"

"How much do you remember about what happened last night?" Ames asked without further parley.

"Me?" Clyde looked up with bloodshot eyes.

"Yes, you! Who do you think I'm talking to? I suppose you don't recall knocking Neville Preston for a row of Chinese pagodas and insulting Lucy Lee—"

"Sure I do. It's beginning to come back to me now. I found out what a sap I'd been—"

"Who broke the news to you, Buddy, Shirley Moore, wasn't it?"

"Why, ah . . ." Clyde stammered.

"I knew it was. And you fell for that little tramp's dirty lies about a sweet, clean kid like Lucy Lee. That's just dandy. Why, you ought to be sent to the psychopathic ward and have your head examined, you big boob!"

"Say," Clyde began belligerently, starting up then sinking back on the bed with a groan, hand to head again.

"Fine mess you've made of things," Ames went on ruthlessly. "What you need is a guardian. A couple of them wouldn't be too many for a lug like you. Listen, don't you savvy that Shirley is on the make for you only because you happen to be in the limelight right now and she wants to cash in on your publicity? What else do you suppose she's making this play for you—busting you up with Lucy Lee and everything?"

Clyde was staring dazedly, unable to grasp the full import of the other's words. "Why, uh—"

"She's out to crash the pictures in a big way and doesn't give a damn how she does it, either. Who do you suppose is putting up for her 'career'? Paying the rent on this house, giving her the swell car and all the rest of the props?"

"Her uncle, of course. She told me."

"Bunk! Be your age, fella. That old goat is no more her uncle than I am!"

"What? But she said—"

"Oh, I wouldn't be dishing the dirt like this about the gal under ordinary circumstances. What she does is her own funeral, the way I look at it. She's free, white, and twenty-one. If she wants to buy her way in, I say more power to her. And if an old man gets a kick out of being her meal ticket, I should lift an eyebrow!"

Clyde continued to stare at him, knocked wordless by these revelations.

"But this is different. She's poaching on Lucy Lee's territory and it's about time someone gave you the real low-down on Shirley, her fake uncle and all the rest of it. Why, fella, you're not dry behind the ears yet."

"What a fool I've been," Clyde groaned. "What a triple-dyed idiot." He rose, put on his coat and started toward the bedroom door.

"Where are you going?"

"To find Lucy Lee and ask her pardon, of course. Though I wouldn't blame her if she never spoke to me again, after what I've done."

"Hey, wait. You can't do that."

"Why not?" Clyde turned at the door. "Why can't I?"

"Because Lucy Lee has gone."

"What do you mean? Gone where?"

"Back home. Rosemead."

Clyde stared. "Are you telling me she's left Hollywood?"

"Flat! I've just put her and the old man and Juddy on the train for New Orleans."

Clyde's bronze face paled, he leaned against the door.

Clyde and Ames reached the studio only a half hour late for the retakes on the Loring picture scheduled for one o'clock. Clyde hurriedly put on his make-up and got into the clothes required for the scene which was to be retaken. Walking down the lot to Stage Four they found the director and Bruce Loring already on hand, going through a scene preliminary to the

Administration Leaders Confer

Failure of congress to enact any part of the seven-point program outlined by the president when he called a special session resulted in a conference of administration leaders, left to right, William B. Bankhead, speaker of the house; John Garner, vice president, and Alben Barkley, senate majority leader. They are shown leaving the White House after a secret conference with the president.

tried to get her hooks into me but I managed to sidestep her. Probably my foot work is a little speedier than his," he added chuckling.

"It ought to be," retorted Ames. "Look at all the practice you've had."

STRESS NEEDS AT PITTSBURGH

Survey Shows 40 Percent Of Residents Living In Poor Conditions

(United Press) — PITTSBURGH, Pa. — The Federation of Social Agencies has produced figures showing that 40 percent of the 1,374,000 persons residing in highly industrialized Pittsburgh and Allegheny county are living in "sub-standard" conditions.

A relief survey conducted by the federation showed the city split by a wide, slightly angular section in which virtually half of the homes are "in poor repair or unfit for human habitation." That area is augmented, according to the survey, by another large section on the "north side," where living conditions were found to be worse.

Much Illiteracy
The survey showed 2.6 per cent of the city's inhabitants unable to read or write, and in the county the percentage was found to be 3.1. In Pittsburgh's business section, the "Golden Triangle," the survey showed a number of residents unable to read or write English.

It was disclosed that in the boisterous "strip" tenement section one out of every ten persons over 10 is illiterate. More than 55 per cent of voting age have no elective franchise, and 22.8 per cent are foreign-born.

In another mill-residential section, the "hill," 90 persons out of every 1,000 were shown to be on relief, four out of 100 are illiterate. The "north side" ran the "hill" a close second in relief figures with 61 out of 1,000 receiving assistance. In the teeming "south side" 5.5 are illiterate and the bulk of residents have no bathing facilities.

The city of Homestead, connected with Pittsburgh physically, was the worst in Allegheny county in illiteracy, with 6.7 per cent unable to read or write.

Fe-Mail Carrier

• Frances Anderson •

It's a case of where the female carries the mail with Frances Anderson of Duluth, Minn., who has been a carrier in the postal service for 19 years and at one time was the only woman in United States to hold such a job. She has missed only one day since starting her route and hopes to carry on until she retires after 30 years of service.
